P.B. Bell Manages First Luxury Apartment Community In Prescott

Homestead Talking Glass Opens Luxury Apartments In Prescott Valley

Prescott, Ariz. (March XX, 2019) -- Homestead Talking Glass, a luxury multifamily housing community, recently opened in Prescott. The $XX property selected P.B. Bell, a leader in multifamily housing development, management, and acquisitions, as the third party property management firm.

With clients across the Valley in Chandler, Mesa and North Phoenix -- to name a few -- Homestead Talking Glass is the introductory property P.B. Bell manages outside the Valley.

“Homestead Talking Glass is the perfect opportunity to expand our services to include all of Arizona,” said R. Chapin Bell, CEO and president of P.B. Bell. “We’re honored to work with the Homestead team and manage their luxury community.”

Located in the heart of the Entertainment District at 3131 N. Main Street, Homestead Talking Glass luxury apartment community boasts a number of featuring qualities including an upper level clubhouse with fireplace, outdoor pool and jacuzzi, a movie theatre, a lavish pool and spa, a 24-hour fitness center and a dog park and spa for pets.

With 214 units ranging from 668 to 1,197 square feet, the one, two and three-bedroom apartments offer 360-degree views of the lake and the city. Additionally, apartments include sleek interiors with contemporary kitchens, customary cabinetry, granite countertops, stainless steel energy-efficient appliances, full-size washer and dryer, wood style plank flooring, and more.

“Homestead is unlike any apartment community here in Prescott,” said Sandy McKee, the property manager at Homestead Talking Glass. “Our ambition to create a community that exceeds the expectations of our residents is always a priority.”
